COME AND SEE US.

HEADQUARTERS, 101 N. CENTRAL CO.

ELIMINATED, June 18, 1884.

The Republican State Central Committee has opened convention and committee headquarters on Wisconsin street, near the postoffice, in Madison, Wis. All republicans, and especially those of our own state, are cordially invited to call upon the committee. All republican papers publishing the date and name of the leading papers of the country, will be kept on file.

Come and see us. H. A. TAYLOR, Chairman.

H. C. PARKER, Sec.

The wheat harvest has begun in Central Illinois, and the yield is reported good and the quality excellent.

The summer is hot, the Blaine enthusiasm is as hot as the summer, the democratic outlook is miserably hopeless, and Samuel has gone to the quiet of Gramercy, leaving his party to settle its troubles as best it can.

The democrats would give a handsome reward if some one would take Blaine and throw him overboard. They think they have got rid of Tilden, but Butler, stick to him like glue, and Butler is still a danger to the Blaine party.

Congressman William T. Price, of the Eighth district, has a platform, from which he says he can't be moved: First plank:

Blaine and Logan. Second plank:

A position for each and every soldier in this broad land. Third plank: That the pension money shall not be spent for whisky.

Reports of republican prospects in the south are becoming more encouraging from day to day. Of course at this stage of the campaign there is not sufficient ground on which to found an absolute conviction as to the result of the election in any southern state, and there should be no encouragement given to over-confidence; but this, at least, is significant:

that the nomination of Blaine and Logan has inspired a determination to work and a hope of victory in localities where hitherto democratic success has been deemed inevitable.

If Cleveland should be nominated

Tammany will tomahawk him to pieces.

If the unknown but beautiful Flower should be nominated, his defeat will be a foregone conclusion. If Tilden's letter should be taken as a joke by the convention and the old ticket should be nominated, the cipher dispatches and the Oregon largesse will make the defeat of the party inevitable. If Butler should be taken, the joke would drive the democratic party into a worse corner than that of 1872, when it was smitten right and left, hip and thigh, with no mercy shown it. Will some one please rise and tell what the democrats must do to be saved?

Our republican friends in Beloit have already begun the campaign in that city by the organization of a Blaine and Logan club. Dr. A. L. Chapin, president of Beloit college, was made president.

The people are enthusiastic in their support of Blaine and Logan. After the club was formed, spirited remarks were made by Hon. C. H. Parker, George A.

Houston, C. Ingersoll and Prof. E. G.

Smith. General Smith D. Atkins, of Freeport, Illinois, was present, and made a ringing speech in favor of the ticket.

The club has a good membership, and it will be influential because the most prominent republicans in the city have become enthusiastic members of it.

The march of time is something wonderful, because it is swift, and in its course it brings strange results. The editor of the Lancaster, (Penn.) Intelligencer, delivered an address before the editorial association at Gettysburg, the other day, and stated a startling truth when he said that "the great presidential struggle now pending, will be decided by the votes of men born since the memorable events of July, 1863, that took place here." It seems only a very few years since the deadly contest at Gettysburg, and yet since that great battle was fought a new generation of voters has been born, and they are strong enough to-day, as Mr. Hensel says, to decide a national contest. Truly, it is but a span from infancy to old age, and from the cradle to the grave, it is but as yesterday and to-day.

ANOTHER WARNING TO THE

DEMOCRACY.

If there ever was a party between two fires it is the democratic party in the campaign of '84. Difficulties confront them on all hands. The Irishman who have been so devoted to the democratic party are deserting it by the thousands. The Boston Pilot, the leading Catholic paper in Massachusetts, has come out for Blaine. The Catholic Citizen, of Milwaukee, endorses Blaine, and now the New York Irish World serves the following notice on the democratic national convention:

If the democratic managers so manipulate things at Chicago, that General

Butler does not receive the nomination, the Irish World will advocate the election of Mr. Blaine and will use whatever influence it may possess to place him in the white house. We believe the time has come when a more vigorous American policy ought to be substituted for the syncretistic spirit toward England that has so long reigned in the councils of the party. For this reason we shall vote for the election of Mr. Blaine if the democracy refuses to select as its standard-bearer, General Butler, the only man who can save it from defeat. It is for the democratic national convention to decide whether General Butler or Mr. Blaine shall succeed President Arthur. Let it present some other candidate than General Butler to the voters, but if it does we will tell the democratic convention that its nomination will be the signal for a boycott that will shatter the democratic party to pieces.

It is not likely that the democratic convention will nominate Butler, and therefore the Irish World-the most powerful democratic Irish-American journal in the United States, will gallantly lead the formidable column of Irish-Americans in the march for Blaine and victory.

REPUBLICAN STATE CONVEN-TION.

The republican state convention which will place in nomination candidates for state offices, will be held at Madison on Wednesday, September 3.

The electors of Rock county will remember that the last republican state convention having changed the basis of representation for future conventions, delegates will be elected, not by assembled and senatorial districts as heretofore, but by counties. The convention will consist of 250 delegates, and the several counties are entitled to delegates as follows:

FLYING FROM DEATH.

The People of Marcellus Fleeing From the Cholera Pestilence.

Scenes in Toulon—How Gladstone dicted the Tories—The Egyptian Conference—The Nile—Foreign News Notes.

MARCELLUS, June 30.—The panic on account of the appearance of the cholera in this city is increasing. The railway stations are crowded with persons anxious to flee from the contagion. Fires are kept burning in the streets to purify the air, which had become deadly noxious. The cholera has not yet been declared. The cholera has not yet been declared. The cholera has not yet been declared.

NEW YORK, June 30.—A special to Toulon from Toulon says: "Investigations prove that the disease was brought from Toulon, the sailors of the boat being indicted at being charged with the responsibility of bringing it over. The navy department is scouring and fumigating the troops that have arrived at Toulon. The local authorities are doing all that can be done to fight the disease."

PARIS, June 30.—It is believed that the government has received alarming intelligence from Toulon and there is now in the air a rumor that the Egyptian conference will be held in Toulon. The Egyptian conference will be held in Toulon. The Egyptian conference will be held in Toulon.

Incendiary Bombs.

St. Petersburg, June 30.—The large number of fires which have occurred recently in this city, Warsaw and Moscow has caused considerable anxiety among the authorities, and as they had good reason to believe the fires were incendiary, detectives were detailed to look for the perpetrators of the outrages. These officers report that they have unearthed an extensive conspiracy in which a number of persons hitherto above suspicion are implicated to burn buildings, not only in St. Petersburg, Warsaw and Moscow, but other towns and cities in Russia, after having insured the buildings for large amounts in order to obtain insurance on the property. It is reported that the police are on the track of the conspirators and that important arrests in the next forty-eight hours.

Spanish Riots.

MADRID, June 30.—A serious riot occurred in Barcelona, during which several houses were badly wrecked, and a number of persons injured. The police were powerless to quell the riot, and troops had to be brought to quell the riot. The riot was partially suppressed during the day, and the streets are almost deserted with the exception of the police and guards, who constantly patrol them in order to prevent any gatherings, as the authorities believe the riot was due to the intrigues of Senor Zorilla, and that more disturbances are likely to occur. Several of the ringleaders of the riot have been arrested.

THE BATHOLD STATUS.

PARIS, June 30.—M. de Lesseps has issued invitations in the name of the Franco-American union for the official presentation to Minister Mortier on July 4 of the Bathold statue. M. Ferry, the premier, will be present.

Minister Lowell's Condition.

LONDON, June 30.—Minister Lowell's condition continues favorable, and he is progressing rapidly toward complete convalescence.

SPORTS IN THE FIELD.

An Event in Chicago—The Base Ball Record.

CHICAGO, June 30.—Washington Club park was inaugurated Saturday for a style which will be a matter of talk among sportsmen for many a day, in this city at least. There were about 7,000 people present and the day was a "bravo" day in June for the climate of Chicago—clear, warm, and delightful. Of the 7,000 people present, one who did not bear the mark of gentility, and the determination of the managers to refuse admission to the rowdy element was successfully carried out. The race is declared by old sportsmen to be the best of the season. Hundreds of ladies of the elite of Chicago society lent grace and beauty to the opening day, and altogether the club has a right to be proud of the success of their enterprise.

There were five races for the first day. The first event—inaugural dash—was won by the Admiral in 1:15. Wanda took the Lakeside stakes, 2 of a mile, in 1:05. The third event was the great one of the day—the American Derby, for 3-year-olds, 1 1/2 miles. This race was good for $15,000 to the winner, and was well-contested. Modesty was not sufficiently modest to refuse such a tempting offer, and got under the spring ahead of her competitors in 1:25. She was followed by Kossuth and Buckeye. The fourth race, 2 of a mile, was won by Tocco in two straight heats and 1:15, 1:15. The fifth and last race went to Ohio Boy. It was a hurdle race, 1 1/2 miles, over five hurdles, and the time was 2:25.

BASE BALL.

CHICAGO, June 30.—The National base ball league record up to and inclusive of Saturday is as follows: Boston—games won 34, games lost 12; Buffalo won 23, lost 21; Chicago won 23, lost 23; Cleveland won 19, lost 19; Detroit won 19, lost 19; New York won 23, lost 19; Philadelphia won 16, lost 23; Providence won 24, lost 11. WHAT SULLIVAN WILL DO.

He Proposes to "Knock Mitchell's Head Off, First Crack."

NEW YORK, June 30.—In an interview with Charlie Mitchell he expressed himself as being in excellent condition, and would step into the ring with Sullivan at any time. Al Smith, Sullivan's broker, was seen. He said that John L. Sullivan had just telegraphed him that he would be on hand early in the morning, and then he could see how much he had to do. The report that he had been on an extended tour, Sullivan will weigh 190 pounds.

Fatal Explosion.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., June 30.—John Crippan, a young man, son of the proprietor of the Crippan hotel, went into an empty oil tank for the purpose of riveting a bolt, when a spark from his lantern ignited the gas remaining in the tank, causing a terrific explosion. When rescued it was found that his clothing was burned off, and the flesh on his face and body burned to a crisp. His injuries are fatal.

SEVEN MONTHS' WORK.

And Four Out of Fourteen Appropriation Bills Passed.

Prospects for the Week—Adjournment—The Porter Veto—Police Mr. Brewster—Pensions—The New Bill.

WASHINGTON, June 30.—The correspondence of the Chicago Inter Ocean telegraphs his paper: The president has thought long and seriously over the John Porter bill and has tried to bury his personal feelings. He has not wanted to sign the bill, but he did not wish to veto it unless there was some good reason for so doing. He existed entirely outside of the range of his personal prejudices and opinions. The matter has been discussed by the cabinet, two members of which have been in favor of permitting the bill to become a law, and the remaining two in favor of a veto. Judge Grosvenor has been an earnest advocate of a veto, and has considered the case as a whole would weigh a question of constitutional law upon the bench. Secretary Teller and Secretary Lincoln have supported Grosvenor, and they have given the president reasons enough for a dozen vetoes. The veto has been written and will go to congress this week.

WASHINGTON, June 30.—The coming week promises to be the last of the session of the thirty-eighth congress and the members are getting ready to leave the city as soon as the gavel of the presiding officer of the two houses fall on the day of final adjournment. In fact many have already left in anticipation of adjournment not later than Saturday next. While adjournment is altogether probable, no resolution to that effect has been adopted and it is quite within the range of possibilities for the session to be extended another month. Seven months have passed since congress assembled, and June 30 closes the fiscal year. To this date but four of the fourteen general appropriation bills have been passed, viz: Military academy, agricultural, District of Columbia, and pension. The legislative and consular and diplomatic bills have been sent to conference, but no meeting has been held on either. The naval appropriation conference has only met once to disagree, and with the wide disagreement between the two houses, the only way out appears to be to extend the appropriations of last year to apply to the current year. The postoffice and army bills have been practically agreed to in conference. The civil service bill, however, has not yet been agreed to. The Indian land bill, which has good deal of trouble, but will probably agree. The act of the fortification bill is not clear, owing to the 5 by 7 split in the house appropriation committee; the sub-committee, consisting of one Republican and one Democrat, supported by the other Republicans and making a majority of the committee, are opposed by the other Democrats, who propose a substitute cutting down the bill from upwards of $5,000 to $2,000. The bill is now in the hands of the committee, and it will be in the power of either faction to prevent action by refraining from voting, a line of tactics not likely to be adopted now as earlier in the session. After this bill is disposed of, the general measures that will be pushed for precedence. Those favoring the bill to forfeit the lands of the Northern Pacific railroad will try to get that bill the right of way next to appropriations and ways and means. The public buildings people will antagonize it with their own bill. Willis, of Kentucky, will urge the educational bill, and Singleton, of Mississippi, will try and push the senate bill for library building. Other minor matters will be pushed, but in each case it becomes a question of stage slight measure against the field, and the field will be likely to win. Unless an agreement as to precedence is reached by the friends of some of the leading measures, there is little prospect of much business being transacted until the day of adjournment is fixed and motions to suspend the rules are in order.

In the senate, after the river and harbor bill is disposed of, the dry bill will probably be taken up. Important amendments have been proposed to it, which will evoke severe criticism and protracted debate. But the five minute rule may be used as the guideline for expediency and facilitate the passage of the bill. Outlets of the appropriation bills other business will be in the nature of a scramble. The bill to forfeit the unceded lands granted to the Atlantic & Pacific has the right of way. In ordinary times its consideration would take a week; now, it may be disposed of in another day, if that day can be secured, which is doubtful. The postal telegraph and the inter-state commerce bills are also awaiting their turns at the legislative mill. Neither they will be got to a vote or not depends altogether on the disposition to adjourn. Part of the somewhat chaotic programme is to rush pension bills through, but that is an easy task for both branches of congress. Senators want a vote on the pension bill for the investigation of the New York national banks. It will probably be accomplished. It is not believed that the resolution will pass, as Messrs. Sherman, McMillan and other memorial financiers are opposed to it. It will be a week of busy and scurry, during which numerous measures will go to the wall.

About-Blinded, but Polite.

WASHINGTON, June 30.—The other evening Attorney General Brewster was passing down Connecticut avenue, and met a gentleman who bowed politely and saluted him with a pleasant "good evening." The attorney general made no response, but seemed absorbed in his own thoughts. After he had gone a few steps he turned around, looked back over his shoulder at the gentleman who greeted him and apologized for not recognizing him. Not long ago a newspaper correspondent called at the department about the case of John Brown and sent him in his own name a note of apology, which placed the attorney general in a very much engaged, but would see him in a few moments. The correspondent waited three-quarters of an hour and then inquired how much longer Mr. Brewster would be engaged. To his surprise he was told that the attorney general had left the office for the day, and he departed in a state of indignation. An hour after Brewster's carriage drove up to the correspondent's house, and a note of apology, which placed the attorney general in a very much engaged, but would see him in a few moments. Pension Matters.

WASHINGTON, June 30.—If the bill which passed the senate Tuesday becomes a law, the number of pensioners on the rolls will be more than doubled, for it is broad enough to include at least two-thirds and perhaps three-quarters of the soldiers who participated in the war. The amount that this bill will cost has not even been estimated. It is not impossible for any one to approximate the number of veterans who will draw themselves of the pension rolls, but it is difficult to see how any man who is a soldier can be denied a pension under its liberal and elastic provisions. All he has to do is to furnish affidavits to show that he is dependent upon his own earnings for support. The pension office receives about 145,000 letters a month and answers 130,000. Properly those claims are not disposed of can form some idea of the reasons for delay.
